Word from PMI Lebanon Chapter

A ME SSAGE F R OM T HE VP OF ADMINISTRATION

Earning Trust, Serving Forward

Michel Medawar
VP of Administration

A phone call marked the beginning of a new chapter.

Following a thorough selection process, I learned that I had been elected Vice President of Administration for PMI Lebanon Chapter. My first reaction was not pride. It was gratitude.

The selection process taught me about our Chapter. The Election Committee looked beyond qualifications to consider alignment, values, and a willingness to serve.

Leadership within our Chapter is not simply granted. It is earned through the trust of members who believe in our ability to serve. I am grateful to every member who believed in me. Your confidence is both an honor and a responsibility that I intend to carry with dedication.

I volunteer because I believe growth is a two-way exchange. What I have learned throughout my journey, I now want to give back to the community that has placed its trust in me.

I bring to this role 25 years of experience in information technology, supported by PMP®, PMI-ACP®, and other IT-related credentials. As Head of IT and Digital Transformation at Arab Reinsurance Company, I have focused on turning complexity into clarity and using technology to create practical, lasting improvements.

> "Serving forward means turning that trust into meaningful action for others."

As I approach the defense of my Executive DBA thesis on applying artificial intelligence to insurance underwriting and risk decision-making, I intend to bring the same focus on innovation, governance, and human-centered improvement to the Board. Through smarter workflows, AI-assisted scheduling and reporting, and better organized information, technology can reduce administrative friction and allow us to devote more time to our members.

My invitation is simple: get involved. Attend a talk, join a committee, share an idea, mentor a fellow professional, or tell us how the Board can better support you. Together, we can continue building a Chapter that empowers its members and strengthens our project management community.

Practical Earned Value Analysis (EVA)

DATE APR 30, 2026 | TIME 7:00 PM Beirut | FORMAT Online | PDUs 1

by Mr. Akram Najjar, Business Technology Consultant

Mr. Akram Najjar
Business Technology Consultant

Why This Session Matters

Every project generates data, but not every project manager knows how to transform that data into meaningful decisions.

In this month's PMI Lebanon Chapter Monthly Talk, Mr. Akram Najjar demonstrated how Earned Value Analysis (EVA) enables project professionals to move beyond traditional reporting by combining scope, schedule, cost, and forecasting into a practical decision-making framework. Rather than treating EVA as a collection of formulas, the session presented it as a management tool that helps project managers understand project performance, anticipate future outcomes, and communicate project status with confidence.

Session Overview

Throughout the session, Mr. Akram guided participants through the practical application of 25 Earned Value indicators, all derived from only five fundamental project measurements. Using clear explanations, practical examples, and interactive exercises, he illustrated how these indicators provide valuable insight into project performance throughout the project lifecycle.

> "Performance metrics become valuable when they support timely decisions."

Participants explored how Earned Value Analysis can be used to:

- Measure schedule and cost performance objectively.
- Monitor project progress using meaningful performance indicators.
- Forecast project completion costs and timelines.
- Detect performance trends before they become critical issues.
- Support better communication with sponsors and stakeholders.
- Identify corrective actions for projects experiencing delays or budget overruns.

One of the session's highlights was the discussion of forecasting techniques such as Estimate to Complete (ETC) and the different approaches to Estimate at Completion (EAC). These concepts demonstrated how historical project performance can be used to predict future outcomes, enabling project managers to make informed decisions while there is still time to influence project success. The presentation emphasized that these indicators should not be viewed merely as mathematical calculations, but as practical management tools that improve planning, control, and stakeholder communication.

Practical Earned Value Analysis (EVA)

DATE APR 30, 2026 | TIME 7:00 PM Beirut | FORMAT Online | PDUs 1

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Five core project measurements can generate 25 meaningful performance indicators.
- Earned Value Analysis provides an objective view of project health by integrating scope, schedule, and cost performance.
- Forecasting techniques such as ETC and EAC enable project managers to anticipate future outcomes rather than simply report past performance.
- Performance metrics become truly valuable when they support timely decisions and clear communication with stakeholders.

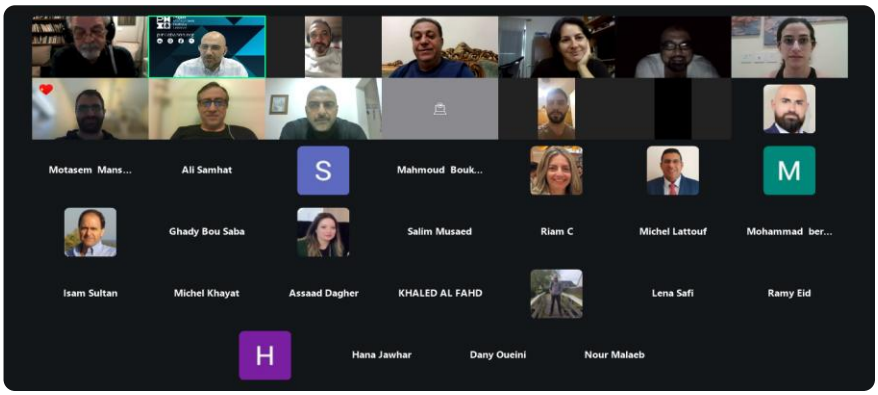

About the Speaker

Mr. Akram Najjar is an Electronic Engineer and Business Technology Consultant with more than four decades of experience in software development, information technology, and management consulting. Throughout his career, he has founded and managed software development companies in Lebanon and the Gulf, led numerous business transformation initiatives, and delivered professional training in project management, business analysis, process improvement, data science, and strategic ICT planning.

A recognized author and educator, Mr. Akram has published several professional books and video courses, helping project managers and business professionals bridge the gap between theory and practical application. Connect with Mr. Akram on LinkedIn →

PMBOK® Guide Evolution to Eighth Edition — What Changed and Why

DATE MAY 21, 2026 | TIME 6:30 PM Beirut | FORMAT In Person | PDUs 1

by Mr. Hisham H. Malaeb, Portfolio and Program Manager

Why This Session Matters

Project management continues to evolve as organizations adopt hybrid delivery models, artificial intelligence, and a stronger focus on value and outcomes.

In this PMI Lebanon Chapter Monthly Talk, Mr. Hisham H. Malaeb explored the evolution of the PMBOK® Guide from the Sixth Edition through the Seventh and into the Eighth Edition. The session went beyond identifying what changed, focusing on why PMI introduced these changes and what they mean for today's project professionals.

Session Overview

Participants examined how PMI's guidance has evolved from a predominantly process-driven approach toward principles, outcomes, value delivery, and more adaptive ways of working.

The session highlighted:

- The transition from PMBOK® Sixth to Seventh Edition.
- The shift from processes toward principles, outcomes, and value.
- Key concepts and refinements introduced in the Eighth Edition.
- Practical differences across PMBOK® Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Editions.
- Implications for project managers, PMOs, organizations, and certification candidates.
- Practical ways to apply the latest guidance in real-world environments.

Mr. Hisham H. Malaeb
Portfolio and Program Manager

Drawing on extensive portfolio and program management experience across the MENA region, Mr. Hisham connected the evolution of the PMBOK® Guide to the realities of modern project delivery. His central message was that the Eighth Edition does not replace established project management knowledge; it builds on it and adapts it to today's increasingly hybrid and dynamic environment.

PMBOK® Guide Evolution to Eighth Edition — What Changed and Why

DATE MAY 21, 2026 | TIME 6:30 PM Beirut | FORMAT In Person | PDUs 1

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- PMBOK® has evolved from a strong process orientation toward principles, outcomes, and value creation.
- Understanding why PMI introduced the changes is as important as knowing what changed.
- The Eighth Edition builds on previous knowledge while responding to hybrid, adaptive, and increasingly complex project environments.
- Effective project professionals combine proven fundamentals with flexible approaches that deliver measurable business value.

About the Speaker

Mr. Hisham H. Malaeb is a Portfolio and Program Manager with more than 18 years of experience leading fintech, digital banking, and business transformation initiatives across Lebanon and the MENA region.

He holds an Executive MBA, a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, and several PMI credentials, including PfMP®, PMP®, PMI-ACP®, and PMI-PMOCP™. He also serves as a certified PMP® and PMI-ACP® trainer at USJ–CFP Lebanon and previously served as Vice President of Professional Development for the PMI Lebanon Chapter. Connect with Mr. Hisham on LinkedIn →

WHY IT MATTERS FOR PM PROFESSIONALS

The evolution of the PMBOK® Guide reflects the evolution of the profession itself. Project professionals are increasingly expected to connect execution with strategy, value, adaptability, and organizational outcomes, not simply deliver projects on time and within budget.

MONTHLY TALKS · JUNE SESSION

Leading Projects When Stability is an Illusion: The Role of the PMO in Volatile Environments

DATE JUN 24, 2026 | TIME 7:00 PM UAE | FORMAT Online

Moderator: Ms. Dania Chaar — Chapter Engagement Specialist, PMI MENA
Panelists: Mr. Omar Ellouzi — CEO, Manaseeb Consultant Engineers
Ms. Riam Chazbeck — President, PMI Lebanon Chapter
Mr. Nasser Ariqat — Online Experience Lead, PMOGA MENA

> "The future of the PMO is not controlling projects; it is enabling organizations to navigate change with confidence."

Why This Session Matters

In today's business environment, volatility has become the norm rather than the exception. Economic uncertainty, rapid technological change, and shifting business priorities are reshaping how organizations deliver projects and create value.

To explore this reality, the PMI Lebanon Chapter, in collaboration with PMOGA MENA Hub and PMI Jordan Chapter, brought together regional PMO leaders for a thought-provoking panel discussion examining one central question:

How can organizations remain resilient, deliver strategic value, and lead successful projects when change is constant?

The discussion explored how modern PMOs are evolving beyond governance and reporting to become strategic partners that enable organizational agility, resilience, and long-term value creation.

Session Overview

Drawing on executive leadership, consulting, and large-scale transformation experience, the panel explored how PMOs must evolve to support organizations operating in increasingly complex environments.

Key discussion themes included:

- The changing role of the PMO beyond governance and compliance.
- Building organizational resilience during uncertainty.
- Aligning projects and portfolios with changing business priorities.
- Strengthening executive decision-making through adaptive portfolio management.
- Lessons learned from large transformation initiatives.
- Balancing governance with organizational agility.

Leading Projects When Stability is an Illusion: The Role of the PMO in Volatile Environments

DATE JUN 24, 2026 | TIME 7:00 PM UAE | FORMAT Online

Rather than viewing volatility solely as a source of risk, the panel emphasized that organizations with strong governance, adaptive leadership, and strategic alignment are better positioned to transform uncertainty into opportunity.

A recurring message throughout the discussion was that successful PMOs are no longer measured only by project controls or reporting. Instead, they create value by enabling informed decisions, prioritizing strategic initiatives, and strengthening organizational capability.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Modern PMOs create value by enabling strategic decision-making, not simply enforcing governance.
- Organizational resilience depends on balancing structure with adaptability in rapidly changing environments.
- Successful project leaders continuously realign projects and portfolios with evolving business priorities.
- Volatility is no longer an exception to manage; it is a reality that organizations must be designed to navigate.

About the Panel

Ms. Dania Chaar serves as Chapter Engagement Specialist at PMI MENA, supporting collaboration and community development across regional chapters while fostering knowledge sharing and professional engagement throughout the PMI network. Connect with Ms. Dania on LinkedIn →

Achrafieh and Verdun

Why This Initiative Matters

One of the PMI Lebanon Chapter's strategic priorities is to extend the value of project management beyond the PMI community and into organizations where it can create measurable business impact.

Through its "Spotlight on Project Management" initiative, the Chapter introduces practical project management concepts that strengthen leadership, encourage continuous learning, and promote organizational excellence.

As part of this effort, the PMI Lebanon Chapter partnered with ABC Lebanon to deliver interactive workshops at both the Achrafieh and Verdun branches, engaging professionals from across the organization.

First Stop: ABC Achrafieh | Friday, April 17, 2026

The initiative began with a workshop at ABC Achrafieh, where participants explored the fundamentals of modern project management and how structured practices improve collaboration, decision-making, and project success.

Led by Mr. Paul Awkar, Vice President of Professional Development, and Mrs. Sarah Abou Hamdan, Vice President of Membership, the session combined practical examples with interactive discussions while introducing participants to the PMI community and its professional development opportunities.

PMI Lebanon Chapter Expands Its Corporate Outreach Through the "Spotlight on Project Management" Initiative

Highlights from the ABC Achrafieh Workshop

Bringing Project Management Excellence to ABC Lebanon

PMI Lebanon Chapter Expands Its Corporate Outreach Through the "Spotlight on Project Management" Initiative

Continuing the Journey: ABC Verdun | Tuesday, May 5, 2026

Building on the success of the first session, the Chapter delivered the same workshop to the ABC Verdun team.

Participants explored how project management principles support operational excellence, teamwork, and continuous improvement, reinforcing the growing interest among Lebanese organizations in adopting structured approaches to project delivery.

Student Leadership in Action

A key contributor to the initiative was Mr. Ashraf Hammad, a member of the PMI Lebanon Chapter Student Board, who coordinated both workshops.

His contribution reflects the Chapter's commitment to empowering future project leaders by providing students with meaningful opportunities to support real community engagement initiatives while strengthening connections between academia and industry.

Impact

Across both workshops, ABC professionals gained practical insights into how structured project management supports better planning, collaboration, decision-making, and organizational performance.

The initiative also strengthened the partnership between the PMI Lebanon Chapter and ABC Lebanon, demonstrating how collaboration between professional associations and private-sector organizations can help build stronger project management capabilities across Lebanon.

Looking Ahead

Following the successful delivery of the workshops at both ABC Lebanon branches, the PMI Lebanon Chapter plans to expand the "Spotlight on Project Management" initiative to additional organizations across the country.

By sharing practical knowledge, fostering professional development, and building stronger partnerships, the Chapter remains committed to advancing project management excellence throughout Lebanon.

LAU and PMI Partner to Advance Project Management Education

DATE MAY 13, 2026

The Lebanese American University (LAU) Adnan Kassar School of Business has signed a strategic Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the Project Management Institute (PMI), marking an important milestone in strengthening project management education and professional development in Lebanon and the wider MENA region.

The agreement establishes a framework for collaboration between academia and industry, creating new opportunities to equip students, faculty, and professionals with globally recognized project management practices, career-focused learning experiences, and practical skills required in today's rapidly evolving workplace.

The partnership was facilitated by Dr. Mira Thoumy, PMI Board Member and Associate Professor of Management at LAU. The agreement was signed by Dr. Dima Jamali, Dean of the Adnan Kassar School of Business, and PMI, represented by Mrs. Dania Chaar, Regional Chapter Engagement Specialist, on behalf of Mr. Hanny Alshazly, PMI Managing Director for the Middle East and North Africa.

Speakers highlighted the importance of bridging academia and industry, preparing future project leaders, and promoting continuous professional development through internationally recognized PMI standards and certifications. The collaboration also reflects a shared commitment to innovation, employability, and lifelong learning, helping students and young professionals develop the capabilities needed to succeed in an increasingly project-driven economy.

PMI Expands Academic Partnerships with MUBS

DATE MAY 13, 2026

The Project Management Institute (PMI) and the Modern University for Business and Science (MUBS) have signed a new Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) aimed at strengthening project management education and preparing students for successful careers in an increasingly project-driven world.

The agreement reflects a shared commitment to providing students with greater access to internationally recognized project management knowledge, professional development opportunities, and industry engagement. Through this collaboration, PMI and MUBS will work together to promote lifelong learning, innovation, and leadership while helping students develop the practical skills and global mindset needed to succeed in today's evolving workplace.

The agreement was signed by Prof. Nael Alami, Vice President at MUBS, and PMI, represented by Mrs. Dania Chaar, PMI MENA Chapter Engagement Specialist, on behalf of Mr. Hanny Alshazly, PMI Regional Managing Director for the Middle East and North Africa.

The ceremony was attended by Ms. Riam Chazbeck, President of the PMI Lebanon Chapter, Mr. Paul Awkar, Vice President of Professional Development, and Mrs. Sarah Abou Hamdan, Vice President of Membership, whose efforts helped facilitate this collaboration.

This latest agreement reflects PMI's continued investment in higher education across Lebanon and the MENA region, creating stronger links between universities, professional practice, and the future workforce.

Future-Ready Pharmacists: Leading Through Project Management

DATE JUN 14, 2026

Building the Project Management Foundation

The first part of the session was led by Mr. Houssein Hassan, President of the PMI Lebanon Chapter Student Club, who introduced pharmacy students to project management as a practical and relevant skill for their future careers. He explored how project management principles are already applied across pharmacy and healthcare settings, demonstrating that these capabilities extend far beyond traditional project management roles.

Houssein also introduced participants to PMI and its professional certifications, with particular emphasis on the Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM)® as an entry point for students seeking to build a strong project management foundation early in their careers.

Future-Ready Pharmacists: Leading Through Project Management

DATE JUN 14, 2026

From Pharmacy to Project Leadership

The second part featured Dr. Romy Faour, PharmD, MPH, PMP®, who shared her personal journey from pharmacy into project management and leadership. Her experience offered students a practical perspective on how project management can complement a pharmacy career, open new professional opportunities, and enable greater leadership and impact.

The strong engagement of participating students reflected their interest in these possibilities and highlighted the value of introducing project management capabilities early in professional development.

"Project management has no professional boundaries."

For the PMI Lebanon Chapter Student Club, the collaboration with LPSA reinforced this important message. In an increasingly projectized world, the ability to understand projects, lead teams, and apply a project management mindset is becoming increasingly valuable across industries and professions.

By bringing project management closer to pharmacy students, the initiative helped equip a new generation of professionals to advance their careers and lead meaningful change.

PMI Lebanon Chapter Elects New Board Members for the 2026-2028 Term

The PMI Lebanon Chapter successfully concluded its 2026 Board of Directors elections, marking another important milestone in the Chapter's commitment to transparent governance and member-led leadership.

With 201 members participating in the election, Chapter members selected four volunteer leaders to join the Board for the 2026–2028 term. Their election reflects the trust and confidence placed in them to help advance the Chapter's mission of promoting project management excellence and delivering greater value to our members and the wider professional community.

The newly elected Board members are:

Mira Thoumy
VP of Governance

Toufic Habli
VP of Marketing

Michel Medawar
VP of Administration

Sally Zaatari
VP of Outreach

These newly elected officers join the existing Board leadership in guiding the Chapter's strategic direction and supporting initiatives focused on professional development, member engagement, volunteerism, governance, outreach, and community growth.

The PMI Lebanon Chapter extends its sincere appreciation to all candidates who stepped forward to serve, the Elections Organizing Committee for overseeing a transparent and professional election process, and every member who participated by casting their vote. Member participation remains the foundation of a strong and vibrant Chapter, ensuring that its leadership reflects the voices and aspirations of the community it serves.

As the new Board begins its term, we look forward to another chapter of collaboration, innovation, and continued service to the project management profession in Lebanon.

PMI Launches the World's First Global AI Standard for Project Management

On 9 June 2026, the Project Management Institute (PMI) introduced The Standard for Artificial Intelligence in Portfolio, Program, and Project Management, the world's first ANSI-accredited global standard dedicated to the responsible use of AI across project-based work.

As organizations accelerate AI adoption, many face challenges around governance, accountability, ethics, and risk management. PMI's new standard provides a practical, technology-agnostic framework that helps organizations move beyond AI experimentation toward structured, responsible, and value-driven implementation.

Designed for project professionals, PMO leaders, executives, and organizations managing AI-enabled initiatives, the standard introduces eight guiding principles, five performance domains, and practical guidance on governance, human oversight, legal and ethical considerations, and AI lifecycle management.

PMI Global Community Reaches 800,000+ Members Worldwide

A global community united by a shared commitment to advancing project success.

PMI has surpassed 800,000 members worldwide, marking a significant milestone in the organization's continued growth and global impact. More than a number, this achievement reflects a vibrant community of professionals dedicated to delivering successful projects, driving innovation, and creating positive change across industries.

In celebrating the milestone, PMI President and CEO Mr. Pierre Le Manh emphasized that professionals increasingly turn to PMI for more than globally recognized certifications. They seek trusted standards, lifelong learning, professional credibility, and a worldwide network that supports their growth throughout every stage of their careers.

As organizations navigate rapid technological change, artificial intelligence, and increasing business complexity, PMI remains committed to equipping project professionals with the knowledge, tools, and community needed to lead with confidence and deliver lasting value.

PMI Introduces the Updated PMP® Certification Exam

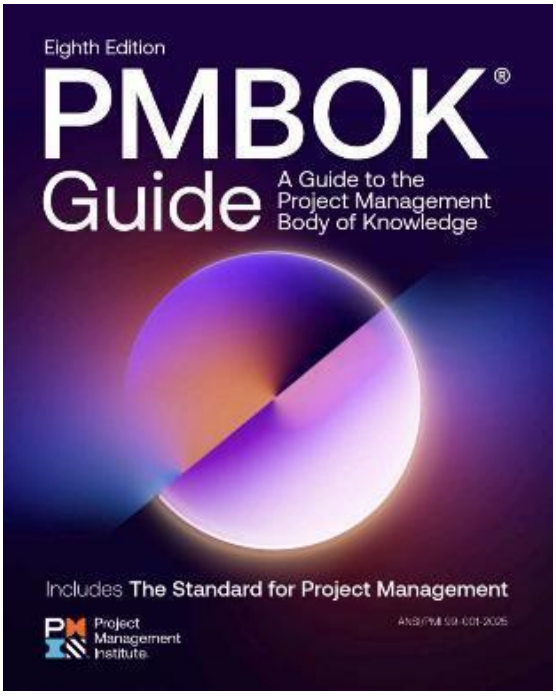

WHAT'S CHANGING?

PMI introduced an updated PMP® certification exam on July 9, 2026, reflecting the evolving demands placed on today's project professionals. The updated exam places greater emphasis on business alignment, strategic decision-making, AI, sustainability, and adaptive delivery.

One of the most significant changes is the increased emphasis on Business Environment, which rises from 8% to 26% of the examination. This shift reflects the growing importance of business judgment, strategic alignment, value delivery, stakeholder engagement, and organizational impact. The updated exam also incorporates greater coverage of AI, sustainability, and predictive, agile, and hybrid approaches, keeping the PMP® credential aligned with the realities of modern project delivery.

Together, PMI's evolving project management guidance and the updated PMP® exam reflect its continued focus on keeping the profession relevant amid rapid technological change and increasing project complexity.

PMI Global Members Elect New Global Board Directors for 2027-2029

The Project Management Institute (PMI) has announced the results of its 2026 Board of Directors election, welcoming four distinguished leaders who will begin their three-year terms on 1 January 2027.

The PMI Board of Directors is composed of elected volunteers from around the world who provide strategic oversight, guide the Institute's long-term vision, and help advance the project management profession globally. Working closely with PMI's executive leadership, the Board plays a key role in shaping initiatives that strengthen the profession, foster innovation, and deliver value to PMI's global community.

The newly elected board members are:

- Katherine Ajk, MBA, CSSBB, PMP®, CSM – An experienced transformation and operations leader with more than 20 years of expertise across the life sciences, technology, and nonprofit sectors.
- Laurel Sim, BSc, PMP® – A dedicated PMI Chapter President and volunteer recognized for leading complex international initiatives and supporting the next generation of project professionals.
- Peter Glynne, MSc, ACG, PMI-CPMAI™ – A digital transformation and AI specialist committed to preparing organizations for the future of project delivery.
- Caterina La Tona, BCS, PMP®, PfMP®, IoD Chartered Director and Fellow – Former PMI Board Chair and long-time global volunteer leader, re-elected to continue contributing her governance expertise and strategic leadership.

As PMI continues to execute its PMI:Next strategy, the newly elected Board will help guide the organization in its mission to maximize project success and elevate the impact of project professionals worldwide.

PMI Global Summit Series Lisbon Celebrates Collaboration and Global Connections

DATE JUN 14, 2026 LOCATION Lisbon, Portugal

The PMI Global Summit Series Lisbon brought together project professionals, Chapter leaders, volunteers, and industry experts from around the world for two days of knowledge sharing, leadership discussions, and meaningful networking. The event highlighted the strength of PMI's global community, where diverse perspectives came together to exchange ideas, inspire innovation, and shape the future of project leadership.

Opening sessions featured insights from Portuguese government leaders and PMI President and CEO Pierre Le Manh, who shared his vision for how artificial intelligence is reshaping the profession and the capabilities project leaders will need to succeed in an increasingly dynamic environment.

Throughout the Summit, speakers emphasized that successful project leadership goes beyond delivering outputs—it requires creating measurable outcomes, embracing agility and resilience, and fostering collaboration across teams, industries, and regions. The event also celebrated PMI's volunteer community, including recognition of the PMI Morocco Chapter on its 15th anniversary, while providing valuable networking opportunities that strengthened connections across the global project management community.

Celebrating International PMO Day

DATE MAY 12, 2026

Observed annually on the second Tuesday of May, International PMO Day recognizes the essential role Project Management Offices (PMOs) play in helping organizations deliver strategy, drive transformation, and achieve successful business outcomes.

To mark the occasion, the Project Management Institute (PMI) highlighted the continued evolution of the PMO—from a traditional governance function to a strategic partner that enables organizational agility, supports business transformation, and delivers measurable value. PMI also curated a range of articles, webinars, and practical resources to help PMO professionals strengthen their capabilities and prepare for the future of project management.

As organizations navigate increasing complexity and rapid technological change, modern PMOs continue to play a critical role in aligning portfolios with strategic objectives, improving governance, and enabling better decision-making across the enterprise.

PMI Global Summit Series Seoul Highlights the Future of Project Leadership

DATE JUN 10-11, 2026 LOCATION Seoul, South Korea

The PMI Global Summit Series Seoul brought together more than 500 executives and project professionals from 40 countries to explore the future of project leadership in an increasingly complex, technology-driven world. The Summit provided a global platform for knowledge sharing, thought leadership, and collaboration among project professionals across industries and regions.

A highlight of the event was the panel discussion, "The Gigaproject Reality: Why Collaboration Drives Success Beyond Control", moderated by Hanny Alshazly, PMI Regional Managing Director for the Middle East and North Africa, alongside Ben Breen and Boon Cheat Yew. The discussion explored how today's largest and most complex projects require collaborative leadership, adaptive governance, and strong stakeholder alignment rather than traditional command-and-control approaches.

Throughout the Summit, speakers examined the growing influence of artificial intelligence, the future of infrastructure, and the leadership capabilities needed to deliver large-scale transformation initiatives. The event reinforced that successful project leaders must combine technology, collaboration, and strategic thinking to create sustainable value in an increasingly dynamic environment.

KEY THEMES: Artificial Intelligence | Collaboration Beyond Control | Gigaproject Leadership | Adaptive Governance | Global Knowledge Sharing

- Successful gigaprojects depend on collaboration, stakeholder alignment, and adaptive leadership rather than traditional command-and-control management.
- Artificial intelligence is reshaping project delivery and expanding the capabilities expected of modern project leaders.
- Global collaboration and knowledge sharing remain essential for navigating increasingly complex transformation initiatives.

PMI Global Summit 2026 Heads to Detroit

DATE OCT 21-24, 2026 | LOCATION Detroit, Michigan | SESSIONS 100+ | PDUs 20+

The countdown is underway for PMI Global Summit 2026, taking place October 21–24, 2026 in Detroit, Michigan (USA). Bringing together thousands of project professionals from around the world, PMI's flagship annual event offers a unique opportunity to learn from industry experts, discover emerging trends, and connect with one of the world's largest project management communities.

This year's Summit will feature more than 100 sessions, including keynotes and expert-led discussions covering the latest developments in project management, leadership, artificial intelligence, digital transformation, and business innovation. Participants will also have the opportunity to earn more than 20 Professional Development Units (PDUs) while gaining practical insights that can be applied immediately in their organizations and careers.

Beyond the educational program, the Summit is renowned for its vibrant networking opportunities. Attendees will engage with project professionals from diverse industries and countries, exchanging ideas, building lasting professional relationships, and exploring innovative approaches to today's project challenges.

PMI also encourages strong participation from the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region, highlighting the importance of sharing regional experiences while bringing global best practices back to local organizations and communities. EXPLORE THE SUMMIT →

PMWB: Building PMI Lebanon's Centre of Excellence for Social Impact

ROLE Chair, Volunteer | COMMITTEE PMWB, PMILC | FOCUS PM NGO Support

A newly formed committee is turning two years of NGO support into a lasting, repeatable program, powered entirely by volunteers who believe project management can be a force for good.

For decades, project professionals have offered their skills to causes larger than any single project. In 2024, PMI Lebanon carried that spirit forward by adopting the Project Managers Without Borders (PMWB) initiative, connecting our members with local NGOs seeking to operate with greater capacity and structure. Two years on, the results speak for themselves: real engagements, real relationships, and a growing sense that this is part of who we are as a Chapter.

This year, PMWB takes its next step. A newly formed Committee, established under the PMI Lebanon Board, is turning that early momentum into something built to last: a Centre of Excellence for Social Impact.

Mr. Rashad Issa
Chair, PMWB Committee, PMILC

> "Project management can be a force for good."

Why now? Because PMWB's early work, supporting organizations such as Jouzour Loubnan, Hope Centre, and LMTA, proved that the demand exists and the model works. What it needs next is the structure to scale: capturing what we learn from every engagement rather than starting fresh each time.

That is the Committee's mandate. Over the coming year, we will develop a Program Charter setting out our purpose and how we work together; a Volunteering Framework to make recruiting, onboarding, and recognizing volunteers simple and repeatable; and, at the heart of it all, Capability Building.

This means developing project management templates, frameworks, and tools that can travel from one NGO engagement to the next, ensuring that every project leaves something reusable behind.

None of this happens without our volunteers. PMWB is powered entirely by professionals who give their time, expertise, and evenings because they believe skilled project management can change how an NGO operates and, through that work, the lives it touches. That dedication is the Committee's greatest asset. Everything we are building is designed to make it easier to contribute, easier to see the impact of that contribution, and easier for volunteers to be recognized not only nationally, but also regionally and globally.

Our ambition extends beyond Lebanon. PMWB's work aligns directly with the UN Sustainable Development Goals, particularly Quality Education, Decent Work, Reduced Inequalities, and Partnerships for the Goals. Through PMI's global Hours for Impact program, every hour our volunteers contribute becomes part of that larger story.

PMWB: Building PMI Lebanon's Centre of Excellence for Social Impact

ROLE Chair, Volunteer | COMMITTEE PMWB, PMILC | FOCUS PM NGO Support

My vision is to create a Centre of Excellence that can help scale PMWB's support to NGOs through a structured framework, one that could ultimately be adopted by PMI Chapters around the world, because social impact and value travel easily.

In this first year, success looks like this: a tested, repeatable NGO intake process open to the whole volunteer team; a library of capability-building assets ready for reuse; and thought leadership that shares what we learn with the wider project management community.

On a personal note, I joined the PMI Lebanon Chapter two years ago. What struck me most was the commitment of every Board member and volunteer to the growth of the profession. What started as an opportunity to support the creation of bite-sized project management learning capsules grew into something bigger and more impactful.

I am grateful to Mrs. Mira Thoumy and Mrs. Mary Jarjour for welcoming me to this initiative and involving me from its inception. They have done a great deal to bring PMWB to Lebanon, and I now have the responsibility of carrying their legacy forward.

This is a Chapter-wide effort. If you believe, as we do, that project management skills can be a force for good, we would love for you to be part of building it. Watch for details on how to get involved in the months ahead.

Let's build this together.

Rashad Issa, FCQI | FCXA | FRSA

Chair, PMWB Committee, PMI Lebanon Chapter

About the PMWB Chair

Mr. Rashad is a transformation leader who helps organizations build capability, drive operational excellence, and create value through quality management. He serves as Chair of the Board of the Chartered Quality Institute and is Founder and Chief Quality Officer of "the Q strategy".

A PMI volunteer for over a decade, Rashad previously served on the PMI UK Board and as a founding Global Leader of PMI's Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Insights team. He holds the PMP® and PMI-PMOCP™ certifications and a master's degree in Applied Project Management, Managing Innovation and Organizational Change. He also hosts the Quality Impact and Rashad in Conversation podcasts.
