WORD FROM PMI LEBANON CHAPTER

Dear PMI Community,

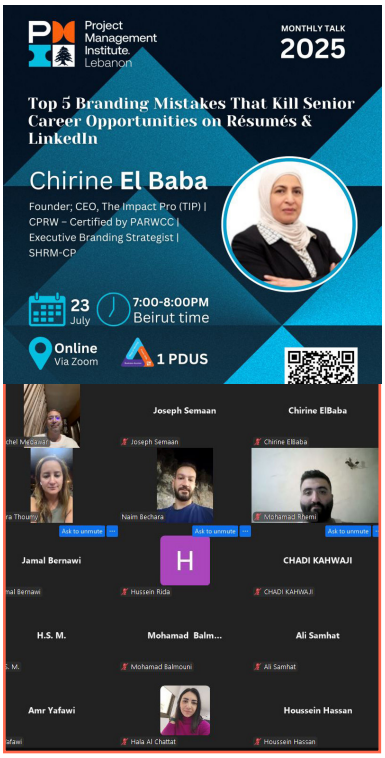

Over the past five years, it has been my privilege to serve as Vice President of Education at PMI Lebanon Chapter.

Volunteering with the Chapter has been an incredibly rewarding journey, applying my passion for project management and strengthened my belief in the power of giving back.

Through this role, I had the opportunity to contribute to professional initiatives and support chapter members. What made the experience special is the people I met along the way. From colleagues to volunteers and members, I have been lucky to work with inspiring professionals who share the same commitment.

This journey has enriched me both professionally and personally. As I shift focus to other priorities at work, I am resigning from my role, but my support for the Chapter's mission and spirit of volunteering will remain the same.

Top five branding mistakes that kill Senior Career Opportunities on Resumés & on LinkedIn

by Mrs. Chirine El Baba

DATE: 23/07/2025 / TIME: 7:00 PM
SESSION: Online

In today's job market, having years of experience is no longer enough to stand out. The hiring world has changed. Recruiters and companies now look beyond your past titles and responsibilities. They want to see the value you bring, and this is where personal branding and digital visibility play a major role. A strong brand on LinkedIn or in your résumé shows not only what you've done but also why you matter.his passion for money and markets, give him unique insights into global financial systems.

Mr.Paul Awkar, VP. Professional Development & the PMI Lebanon was glad to announce Mrs. Chirine El Baba as speaker who gave a lecture titled " Top 5 Branding Mistakes That Kill Senior Career Opportunities on Résumés & LinkedIn.

Mrs. El Baba SHRM-CP, CPRW, is the Founder & CEO of The Impact Pro (TIP) for Professional Development Services. She is the first and only Lebanese professional to earn the Certified Professional Résumé Writer (CPRW) credential, awarded by the globally recognized PARWCC in the U.S., and is also a SHRM-certified HR professional.

During 60 minutes, she devoted her time to explain:

- Why Experience Alone Isn't Enough Today, How the global hiring landscape has shifted toward value branding and strategic digital visibility
- Top 5 Branding Mistakes on Résumés & LinkedIn, The most common missteps that cost senior professionals visibility and credibility in today's market
- How to Fix These Mistakes with Strategic Clarity, Practical solutions using globally recognized frameworks like PAR/CAR and role-based branding
- The 10-Second Brand Test, A guided self-assessment to evaluate brand clarity from a recruiter's perspective
- Q&A and Strategic Takeaways, Live insights and a call to action for personalized brand audits aligned with international standards

By the end of this session, participants were able to:

- See why today's job market values personal branding more than experience alone
- Spot the top 5 résumé and LinkedIn mistakes senior professionals make
- Learn to showcase impact using global frameworks like PAR/CAR
- Test your career brand with a quick 10-second recruiter check

Securing the Project Lifecycle: Cyber-security Considerations from Initiation to Closure

by Mr. Joseph Martinos

DATE: 27/08/2025 / TIME: 7:00 PM
SESSION: Online

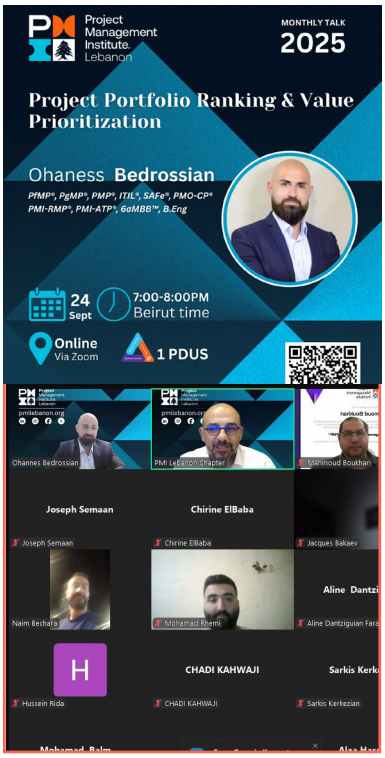

The PMI Lebanon Chapter was pleased to host this August's lecture with Joseph Martinos, Manager of Cyber Threat Protection and Cybersecurity Lecturer, who spoke about "Securing the Project Lifecycle: Cybersecurity Considerations from Initiation to Closure".

Joseph Martinos shed light on the growing importance of cybersecurity in today's projects, highlighting key security touchpoints across the project lifecycle. Participants will gain practical insights, tools, and techniques to embed security considerations into project planning and execution, ensuring resilience and compliance from initiation through closure.

Needless to mention that Mr. Martinos is a cybersecurity expert with over 20 years of experience across industries such as banking, higher education, retail, manufacturing, and insurance. He is currently Cyber Threat Protection Manager at Intact Financial Corporation in Canada and a Lecturer at Polytechnique Montréal. Joseph holds an Executive MBA from ESCP Europe and multiple global certifications, including CISSP, CCSP, and GIAC Public Cloud Security (GPCS).

By the end of this session, participants were able to:

- Understand how cybersecurity risks affect project outcomes across industries
- Learn key security steps at every phase of the project lifecycle
- Discover how to embed security into scope, budget, and timelines without harming delivery
- Apply practical tools and collaborate with stakeholders to ensure secure, compliant projects
- Capture lessons learned to strengthen resilience in future initiatives

SESSION: Online

PMI Lebanon Chapter was delighted to host one of its own devoted members, Mr. Ohannes Bedrossian, the head of PMO and Engineering at SIMAC Beirut, as the featured speaker for the September webinar via Zoom.

Mr. Bedrossian delivered an engaging lecture on “Project Portfolio Ranking & Value Prioritization”, guiding participants through the principles of project portfolio management and its critical role in aligning initiatives with organizational strategy

Attendees gained insights into:

- The purpose and importance of project portfolio management
- Common pain points and key factors to consider
- How to effectively link projects to strategy for greater impact
- Practical methods for ranking and scoring projects to ensure benefits realization

With over 12 years of experience in project and portfolio management, Ohannes Bedrossian, PfMP®, PgMP®, PMP®, PMI-RMP®, PMO-CP®, ITIL®, SAFe®, 6σMBB™,B.Eng, is a recognized leader in the field. In addition to his corporate role, he works as a freelance PMO consultant across Lebanon and the GCC, and as an authorized instructor for New Horizons Lebanon, where he provided training for hundreds of professionals on PMP, PgMP, ITIL, and portfolio management practices.
Outside of his professional career, he is passionate about 3D printing, large-scale remote-controlled cars, and is currently developing a mobile game.

The PMI Lebanon Chapter extends its appreciation to Mr. Bedrossian for sharing his expertise and practical insights with our members and community.

“Renforcer l’Excellence: La communauté PMI au service du success et de la carrière” by PMI MENA

DATE: 27/08/2025 / TIME: 7:00PM / SESSION: Online

On August 27th, 2025, our VP Administration Mrs. Stephanie Fouchaux joined as a distinguished panelist along with the esteemed guests — Naouel Ben Zina, Regional Mentor PMI MENA, and Laurent Maceyko, General Secretary of PMI France — in a session moderated by Mohamad Rabah Kellal, Operations Analyst at PMI MENA.

Together, they exchanged insights on:

- The importance of being part of the global PMI family
- How volunteering and community engagement enhance personal growth and leadership skills
- Programs that foster leadership, academic success, critical thinking, and personal development
- Promoting innovation and staying at the forefront of project management

A big thank you to Project Management Institute MENA Page for organizing this event.

“Project: Your Career”

An initiative brought by PMI Lebanon Chapter Student Board Advisor, Mrs. Georgia Karam

DATE: 29/04/2025 / TIME: 7:30 PM / SESSION: Hybrid

Mrs. Georgia Karam, our valuable member at the PMI Lebanon Chapter, announced the upcoming launch of Project Your Career – a mentorship program designed especially for university students and fresh graduates who are ready to take the next big step in their professional journey.

This initiative will give students the opportunity to connect with experienced managers, to gain insider insights, and to develop the skills to manage careers like ultimate projects.

This initiative calls on professionals who are ready to guide the next generation: share their expertise, make an impact.

Stay tuned for the official launch details.

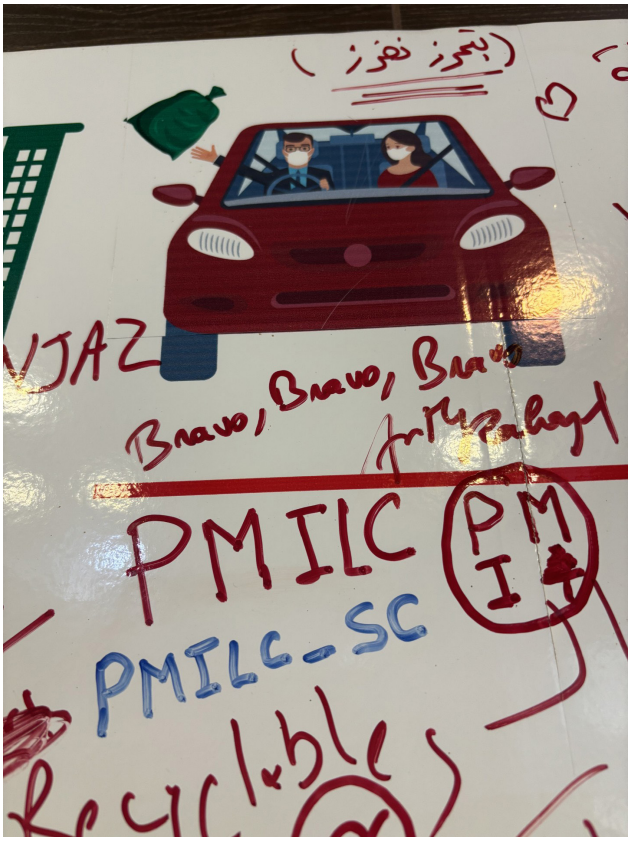

Volunteering Activities

On July 2025 and as an act of sustainability, our VP. Volunteers Mr. Ziad Ibrahim has created an account at IPT drive-through for the student club for collecting recyclables. It is to be noted that Recycling plays a vital role in advancing sustainable development, particularly in relation to SDG 12 (Responsible Consumption and Production), SDG 13 (Climate Action), and SDG 15 (Life on Land).

By reducing waste, recycling supports SDG 12 through more efficient use of natural resources and minimizing pressure on raw material extraction. It also contributes to SDG 13 by lowering greenhouse gas emissions that result from landfilling and incineration, while decreasing the energy demand associated with producing goods from virgin materials.

Furthermore, recycling helps protect ecosystems and biodiversity, directly linking to SDG 15, as it reduces deforestation, mining, and pollution that threaten terrestrial habitats. Together, these connections highlight recycling as a practical and impactful strategy for promoting a circular economy and safeguarding the planet's climate and natural systems.

PMILC NEWS

On the 16th of August 2025, our VP. Volunteering Mr. Ziad Ibrahim, and in collaboration with the student's club, a group of volunteers donated second-hand clothes and toys, all in good condition, to a marginalized community as part of our commitment to social and environmental responsibility.

This initiative aligns with the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), specifically SDG #1 (No Poverty), by supporting communities who lack access to basic necessities; SDG #10 (Reduced Inequalities), by helping bridge the gap between underserved populations and essential resources; and SDG #12 (Responsible Consumption and Production) and by promoting the reuse of quality goods instead of discarding them.

Through this act, the PMI Lebanon Chapter aims to contribute meaningfully to a more inclusive and sustainable future.

Tools and Training: Volunteers Help Lebanese Reforestation Initiative Plan for Impact

Lebanese Reforestation Initiative works with local communities to restore and expand Lebanon's forests. In recent months, our volunteers engaged with key LRI staff in Phase 2 of PMI-Lebanon's LRI support efforts. Volunteers developed a customized, Excel-based tool to help LRI accurately estimate the resources and effort required for their projects. Volunteers also developed and led a 90-minute training session to share their expertise on Program and Portfolio Management Best Practices with the LRI team.

Thirteen LRI staff attended the training session, 8 of whom are Project Managers. Volunteers invested 14 hours of time preparing for the session. Four LRI team members gave feedback after the session. Following the session, the LRI team decided to use the interactive exercises from our session during their upcoming annual strategic planning meeting.

The following NGO Support volunteers contributed to this effort: Muhannad Danaj, Mary Jarjour , Majd El Mohtar, , PMI Student Board Advisor Georgia Karam, Hisham Malaeb, Rashad Issa, Romy Massaad, VP. Volunteers Ziad Ibrahim, VP. Professional Education Paul Awkar and VP. Governance Mira Thoumy.

Thriving in Complexity and Change

A few drops from our CEO Pierre Le Manh & PMI Global from the last quarter
Board Perspectives update

In July 2025, the Project Management Institute's Board of Directors issued its latest Board Perspectives update, highlighting ongoing engagement with members and inviting participation in PMI's Annual Membership Meeting on 13 November 2025.

Board Chair Ike Nwankwo emphasized the importance of dialogue and transparency, noting that the meeting offers members "an opportunity to connect directly with PMI's leadership." As part of the program, Pierre Le Manh, PMI President & CEO, will share the latest developments on PMI:NEXT — the organization's forward-looking strategy designed to evolve PMI's operations, services, and global impact.

The update also introduced a new recurring feature: a monthly Board Perspectives column to provide members with insights from directors and to strengthen two-way communication. Members were encouraged to submit questions and topics by 31 August 2025, ensuring that their voices help shape the November discussions.

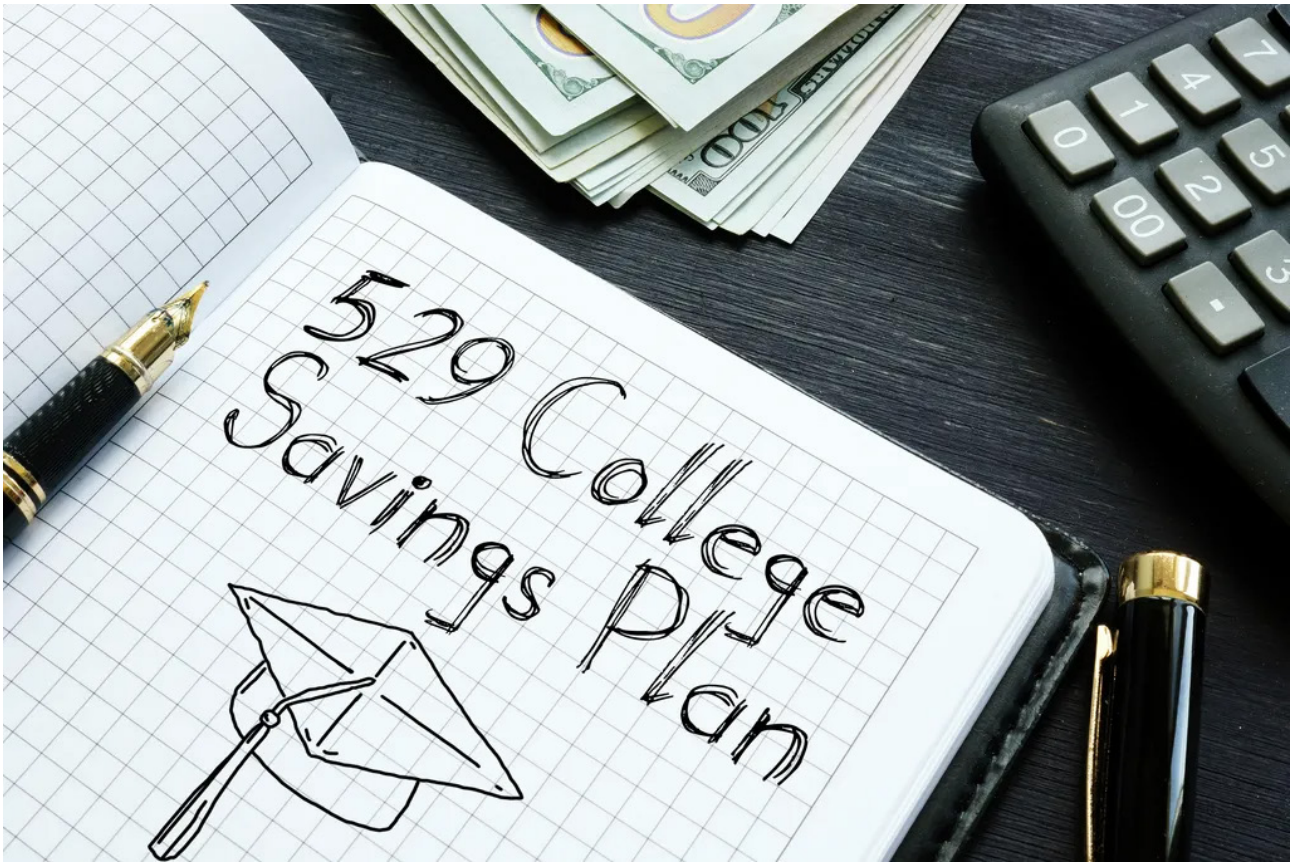

U.S. expansion of 529

In August 2025, The Project Management Institute (PMI) welcomed the recent U.S. expansion of 529 savings plans to cover career certifications, including the globally recognized PMP®.

The policy change allows individuals to use education savings for professional upskilling, addressing critical talent shortages. Pierre Le Manh, PMI President & CEO, praised the move, calling it “a powerful message: upskilling and reskilling matter more than ever.” He emphasized that the expansion reflects a transformation in how education is valued — highlighting continuous learning and professional development alongside traditional degrees.

With PMI projecting a demand for 30 million new project professionals by 2035, the expanded funding options will make credentials more accessible to students and professionals alike. “The path to opportunity through project management just became broader, faster, and more inclusive,” Le Manh said.

By supporting this reform as a member of the Professional Certification Coalition, PMI reaffirms its commitment to bridging the global talent gap and empowering people to thrive in a fast-changing, AI-driven world.

Cert Summer: Powering Careers Forward

The Project Management Institute (PMI) has launched Cert Summer, a global initiative designed to help professionals transform downtime into career-defining momentum.

While others pause, project leaders are encouraged to move forward by pursuing certifications, preparing for the next step in their careers, and celebrating meaningful milestones.

For PMI chapters, Cert Summer offers a unique opportunity to connect members with gold-standard certifications, job-seeking resources, and community support, while reinforcing the value of local engagement.

With certifications more critical than ever in today's competitive job market, Cert Summer provides a simple and impactful framework to guide members from curiosity to certification to career confidence.

Chapters can activate through toolkits, networking guides, event frameworks, and ready-to-use social content—ensuring every story, session, and shout-out contributes to member growth.

Introducing the Seven PMI Chapter of the Year Finalists

Each year, the PMI Chapter of the Year Award recognizes outstanding chapters that demonstrate excellence in member engagement, knowledge sharing, and advancing the project management profession.

The award highlights chapters that go beyond business as usual, driving innovation, impact, and community value. For this year, seven chapters from around the world have been selected as finalists.

These chapters stood out for their ability to:

- Deliver programs that meet diverse member needs.
- Strengthen local and global connections within the PMI community.
- Champion professional growth through certifications, mentoring, and thought leadership.
- Create lasting impact in their industries and societies.

The winning chapter will be announced at the upcoming PMI Global Summit 2025, but every finalist reflects the heart of PMI's mission: empowering project professionals to make ideas a reality.

Congratulations to all seven finalists for setting the standard and inspiring chapters worldwide.
Here are the seven finalists for the 2025 PMI Chapter of the Year Award:

- PMI New Zealand Chapter (Asia Pacific)
- PMI Bulgaria Chapter (Europe)
- PMI Pernambuco Brazil Chapter (Latin America)
- PMI UAE Chapter (MENA)
- PMI Mile-Hi Chapter (North America)
- PMI Chennai Chapter (South Asia)
- PMI Ghana Chapter (Sub-Saharan Africa)

PMI is proud to join as Knowledge Partner at the Future Projects Forum in Riyadh, Sept 8–10.

The Future Projects Forum is one of the region's largest platforms for showcasing upcoming development projects, bringing together government entities, private sector leaders, contractors, and investors to explore opportunities for collaboration.

As Knowledge Partner, PMI contributed insights on the vital role of project management standards, certifications, and practices in enabling Saudi Arabia's ambitious Vision 2030 agenda. The forum provided a stage for PMI to share thought leadership on how effective project delivery can accelerate economic diversification, innovation, and infrastructure growth across the Kingdom and beyond.

This collaboration reflects PMI's commitment to supporting sustainable project ecosystems, building professional capacity, and empowering practitioners to deliver impact at scale.

GEORGIA KARAM,

Head of Training & Reporting, Sabr Tobo NGO | PMI Student Board Advisor

ACADEMIC AND PROFESSIONAL CREDENTIALS:
Certified Facilitator – Leadership & Management Development Programs
Certified Learning & Development Manager
Project Management Professional (PMP)

DOMAIN / INDUSTRY KNOWLEDGE:
Management Consulting, Project & Operations Management, Leadership Development.

MY STORY:
With nearly two decades of professional experience across consulting, training, retail, and NGOs, I have dedicated my career to building people, strengthening systems, and leading projects that drive measurable impact. For me, project management has never been about titles!
It has always been about outcomes: guiding teams, ensuring accountability, and creating environments where people thrive and deliver. Earning the PMP® certification was the point where I chose to align my extensive hands-on experience with globally recognized standards. The PMP® gave structure and validation to what I had already practiced for years, bridging my expertise with international methodologies and language that resonate across industries.

WHY I VOLUNTEER WITH PMI:
My journey with PMI-LC extends beyond certification. Serving as PMI Student Board Advisor and volunteering for multiple projects allowed me to:

- Give back to the profession by mentoring and guiding the next generation of project leaders.
- Grow my perspective by collaborating with professionals from diverse industries and backgrounds.
- Strengthen community impact through initiatives that align with PMI's vision of advancing the profession while supporting broader development goals.

MY LEADERSHIP IMPACT:

- At Sabro Tobo NGO – I lead Training for micro businesses & Reporting for International donors, ensuring that capacity-building initiatives are effective, sustainable, and measurable.
- With Youth Leaders – I mentor aspiring project managers and professionals, helping them build confidence, leadership, and career-ready skills.
- Across Industries – I leverage my consulting and operational background to design solutions and programs that balance strategy, structure, and human development.

For me, project management is both a discipline and a mindset—one that combines vision, structure, and people-centric leadership.

ADVICE TO FELLOW PROFESSIONALS
If you are considering your next step in project management or leadership, I encourage you to:

- Join PMI – for the community, the learning, and the shared sense of purpose.
- Pursue the CAPM® or PMP® certification – not just as credentials, but as a way to align your expertise with global standards.
- Volunteer – because project management has the power to create real change for people and communities.

One decision can open many doors. For me, that decision was joining PMI Lebanon Chapter.

NAIM BECHARA,
Software Development, Information Technology & Digital Transformation

From Client-Facing to Project Management - My PMP® Journey.

My professional journey has always been rooted in customer-oriented roles such as sales, customer success, and support. While working as a Sales Manager at a digital transformation startup, I found myself naturally stepping into project management.

Most of my colleagues were brilliant developers who preferred to stay focused on technical work, so I became the bridge between them and our clients.

This role gradually introduced me to the world of project management and to my surprise, it was a world I deeply enjoyed even though I didn't initially seek.

Over time, I discovered that project management is not only about coordination and delivery, but also about leadership, adaptability, and structured problem-solving. Learning that there was an entire certification dedicated to this field, backed by a global community, gave me clarity about the path I wanted to follow.

In September 2024, I made the decision to leave my full-time role and dedicate myself to studying. Three months later, in December 2024, I proudly passed the PMP exam on my first attempt.

Earning this certification has given me credibility and opened opportunities I never thought possible. But beyond the personal achievement, what I value most is becoming part of the PMI community.

It is a rare and remarkable space where professionals (many with vast experience and accomplishments) choose to share knowledge, encourage one another, and celebrate collective growth rather than compete. This sense of belonging reinforces the idea that project management is as much about people and collaboration as it is about frameworks and methodologies.

Elly Mary Awada CAPM,

Owner Flour Shower, Creative Content & Digital Media Lead at PMILC

As someone who truly values communication, collaboration, and working with people, I've always been driven by strong interpersonal skills and the desire to grow, exchange ideas, and make things better.

I care deeply about deadlines, punctuality, and delivering results through effective planning, organizing, and execution. Naturally, I found myself drawn to PMI.

At PMI, I discovered a community that not only supports its members but also communicates effectively, encourages growth, and fosters excellence. The sense of belonging I felt was immediate.

In human resource management, it's often emphasized that creating a supportive environment where people feel included leads to higher engagement and better performance.

At PMI, this isn't just a theory, it comes naturally.

What makes this community unique is the shared mindset. Regardless of background, culture, or profession, we connect through a common language: project management.

We collaborate, exchange knowledge, and when challenges arise, we do what project managers do best; adapt, create alternatives, and find solutions.

PMI is not only a professional association; it is a true community of like-minded individuals who understand, support, and inspire one another to achieve excellence.

TESTIMONIAL:

PMP was always more than just three letters to me, it was a goal I set during my university days, a standard I aspired to throughout my career.

My path took me from quality assurance in a fintech firm, where I first saw Agile transform collaboration, to leading fintech implementation projects that blended the predictability of waterfall with the adaptability of agile.

In 2024, I made a career shift into strategy consulting, and that was the moment I decided it was time to consolidate a decade of experience and finally pursue the PMP. Balancing a demanding consulting job with study was a challenge, but the reward was transformative.

The PMP did not just expand my project management toolkit; it reshaped the way I lead: with structure, perspective, and the mindset of a true servant leader.

For me, the certification is not just a milestone but a catalyst for continuous professional and personal growth.
